The Giant Despair.
One of the most horrible things about the nervous diseases to which women are peculiarly subject is the sense of overwhelming despair which they bring upon the mind. A woman's mental condition is directly and powerfully affected by any ailment of the delicate, special organs of her sex. Such a difficulty not only racks her body with pain and suffering but burdens her with mental anguish which words can hardly describe. Thousands of women have had a similar experience to that of Mrs. E. A. Williams, of Westport, Oldham Co., Ky., in which the use of Dr. Pierce's wonderful "Favorite Prescription" by imparting health and strength to the feminine organism, has not only restored complete vigor and capacity to the bodily powers but has also given renewed brightness and buoyancy of spirit.

"I suffered for over a year," says Mrs. Williams, "with indigestion and nervous prostration. I was unable to eat or sleep. I tried several physicians but they only helped me for a short time. A friend advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pellets.' I commenced taking the medicines last May. Took three bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' three of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three vials of the 'Pellets' and am now feeling better than I have for two years. Have a good appetite sleep well and do not suffer from indigestion or nervousness. I have gained seven and a half pounds since taking these medicines. I have recommended Dr. Pierce's medicine to several ladies, one of whom is now taking it and is being greatly benefited."

THE GUBERNATORIAL CONTEST.

The vote for Governor is very close between Sadler and McMillan. Last night Sadler was 45 votes ahead with about 55 votes in Lincoln, several precincts in Nye and a few small precincts in other parts of the State to hear from. It is claimed that the precinct yet to be heard from will increase Sadler's plurality to at least 100, but Russell gets more votes in Lincoln than Sadler and there is a probability of his carrying the county.

It is now conceded that Sadler will have a plurality of from 60 to 120 over McMillan in the State; and that his election is certain.

The total vote reported is about 9,900, of which Sadler received 3,575 and McMillan some 45 less, Russell being third in the race with about 2,000 votes.

THE RECORD-BROKEN.

The past week has been a record breaker in the bond-buying business, says the Salt Lake Herald. Wall street has witnessed the investment of $34,000,000 in interest-bearing securities. The money brokers apparently feel secure in the permanency of the single gold standard since the election.

This is just what the advocates of free coinage have always contended. Money is withdrawn from other channels and made to do duty for the sharks under the system of monometallism. There is no property so valuable now as interest-bearing bonds. Other property is depreciated. Capitalists are not seeking investments which will result in the upbuilding of the country. Capital is not turned into improvements. It is made to drain, rather than to aid the people.

The Republic is rich. The people are progressive, ingenious, industrious. Their resources and the resources of the land are wonderful. But the end will come, with capital drawing interest instead of building cities and encouraging the cultivation of the soil.

The people cannot long stand up under the strain. They will be made to realize, some time, probably not until they are impoverished, but some time, that the single standard is their undoing.

War talk and side issues may distract their attention for awhile, but they are sure to become convinced that wealth is widening the gulf between the twenty-five thousand who control the finances of the nation and the 70,000,000 who are daily contributing to that growing wealth.

At the rate traveled in Wall street this week, enough people ought to become convinced within the next two years, to give bimetallicism a victory in 1900.

A REPUBLICAN CONGRESS.

It is now evident that the Republicans will retain control of the House of Representatives and will have a majority in the Senate after the 4th of March next. Their majority in the House has been greatly reduced, and Mr. Reed, who will doubtless be re-elected, will have to keep his partisans well in hand and in Washington at all times; when Congress is in session, to prevent the opposition from defeating motions and measures which they may deem objectionable.

The newspapers east are of the opinion that the triumph of the Republicans in the House, may be a very decided disadvantage from the standpoint of professional partisan politics. With the Senate really Republican and a majority of ten or twelve in the House, the McKinley Administration will for the first time be normally in control of Congress. Heretofore the Senate has been a sufficient excuse for failure to enact currency legislation, but no such excuse will exist after the next Congress convenes, as the Republicans will have a majority in both Houses. The Chicago Record, in commenting on the situation, says:

"Can currency-reform legislation along the lines suggested by Secretary Gage, be enacted? Can the President and his Secretary of the Treasury muster a majority in both Houses to vote for retirement of the 'greenbacks'? Probably not. The attempt may be made, but it will probably fail.

"The Democratic majorities in the Houses which enacted the Wilson-Gorman tariff farce, counted heavily against that party at the next general election. The Republican majorities in House and Senate may not be an unmitigated blessing to the party.

"With a strong Republican majority in the Senate, with a Republican President in the White House, and with a working majority in the lower house of Congress, even though small, the Republicans will be held strictly responsible for all legislation. More than that they will be without excuse for failure to act along lines in which legislation is demanded. The next Congress, therefore should be a Congress of action. The Republican party has been entrusted with control of the Government and the people will look to it for results. On the other hand, the narrowness of the majority in the House, and the consciousness that the party must answer to the people in 1900, for the use it makes of its power, for which it cannot divide responsibility with its opponents, ought to be productive of wise conservatism.

"The special session next March should show whether or not the Republican party has been wisely entrusted with complete power by the people.

HIS MAIDEN EFFORT.

The Disappointment of a New Reporter on a Morning Paper.

He was just from college and had secured a place on the editorial staff of a morning newspaper. His first assignment was over on the west side to report a fire. He wrote it up in grand style, making a half-column article of it, beginning thus:

"Suddenly on the still night air rang the shrill cry of fire, and simultaneously the devouring tongue of flame, whose light as it played along the roof's edge had caught the eagle eye of the midnight watcher, leaped forth, no longer playful, but fierce and angry in its consuming greed. Like glowing, smoky demons, the lurid links entwined the doomed building; in zealous blossoms and spurs the flames shot into the overhanging darkness, while from every window and door poured forth a dense sulphurous vapor, the deadly, suffocating breath of an imprisoned fiend," etc. Next morning the embryo journalist was up early to see how his brilliant effort looked in print and this is what he read:

"Mike Mahoney's grocery on Des plaines street was destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $200; no insurance."

Amazing Cleverness of Birds.

There is something very remarkable in the almost reasoning powers manifested occasionally by birds in eluding pursuit or in turning attention from their nests and young, but in few is this more noticeable than in the duck tribes. In Captain Black's narrative of his Arctic land expedition the following instance of this is given:

"One of his companions, Mr. King, having shot a female duck, fired again and, as he thought, disabled its male companion. Accordingly, leaving the dead bird, which he had the mortification of seeing shortly afterward carried off by one of the white-headed eagles, he waded into the water after the drake, which, far from being flustered or alarmed, remained motionless, as if waiting to be taken up. Still, as he neared it, it glided easily away through innumerable little nooks and windings. Several times he reached out his hand to seize it, and, having at last with great patience managed to coop it up in a corner, from which there appeared to be no escape, he was triumphantly bending down to take it when, to his utter astonishment, it looked around at him, cried 'Quack!' and then flew away so strongly that he was convinced he had never hit it at all. The bird's object clearly was to draw the gunner away from its companion."

How Galvin Caught Ward Napping.

"There never was a pitcher in this country who could excel old Jimmy Galvin in catching base runners napping," said Jack Crooks. "I remember seeing the old fellow catch the foxiest base runners in the country asleep off the bags with the quickest kind of a motion. There was one occasion when 'Garvie' played a star trick of this kind on Johnny Ward. The Pittsburgs were playing the New Yorks, and the score was very close, in favor of the former. The New Yorks had two men on bases, and Ward at the bat, with two out. Galvin, stationed to George Miller to stop to one side of the plate and deliberately gave four balls to Ward. Johnny trusted to first, and the next instant Galvin caught him napping, big Beckley blocking him off. It was a put up job, and old 'Garvie' didn't do a thing to Lawyer Ward but laugh at him all the way to the bench. It was a feather in the old man's cap. For Ward at that time was the star base runner of the League."

An Attack on Savannah.

From where I was stationed I could see the dense masses of the attacking columns advance up the slope. Then the torrents of grape which met them would obscure their ranks for a moment and hardly a man would be seen to remain. I at one time saw a body of men many hundreds strong so completely swept away by one discharge that only a few of the rear rank remained when the iron storm went past! The dead and dying could be clearly distinguished lying in piles on the hillside, and over their prostrate bodies fresh troops crowded on to meet the same fate. Many a manly heart and neryous arm went down in the deadly struggle on that green hillside. No valor availed. The cannon's force was greater than the strength of man.

How many ardent hopes were extinguished! How many home circles destroyed and lives rendered miserable by the havoc of that hour none can tell, no more than they can imagine the bodily agony or the grief for home and friends which was there endured! What would be the value of what is called "glory" if weighed on the field of battle among the dead?—Good Words.

Altama or Altamaha?

There can, I suppose, be no doubt that in the lines in "The Deserted Village"—

To distant climes, a dreary scene,
Where half the convex world intrudes between,
Through torrid tracts with fainting steps they

Where wild Altama murmurs to their woe—
Goldsmith is alluding to the River Altamaha in Georgia, the colonization of which had taken place not long before.

But his expressions are not very accurate. So far from being torrid in the strict sense of the word, the latitude of the mouth of the Altamaha is more than 81 degrees. No part indeed of the present United States is located within the tropics. But, besides this, although there are certainly rattlesnakes and, I believe, scorpions of a certain species in Georgia, there are no tigers there to "wait their hapless prey," which the poet reckons among the horrors of the region where some of the inhabitants of Auburn have gone.—Notes and Queries.

Snow That Is Alive.

A most curious phenomenon in the northwest of Canada is the appearance of millions of minute black insects whenever a thaw occurs.

During the winter, the snow is dry and crisp like sand, and nothing whatever can be discovered of these insects, but as soon as a thaw comes they are found everywhere in large patches, looking like a dusting of soot.

They are generally known as snow fleas or snow lice and have slight hopping powers, being able to leap some three or four inches. They entirely disappear when it freezes again, and not a trace of them can be found.

They do not fall with the snow as there may have been no snow for a month or more before their arrival and are probably analogous to the "red snow" of arctic regions.

An African Mother-in-law.

A native has been committed to the high court for trial for mutilating his mother-in-law by cutting off her ear.

The native averred that his mother-in-law had attempted to entice her daughter away from him, her lawful husband, to some other native, and took the extreme measure of cutting her ear as a gentle hint to her to stop her own business.—Cape Town Times.

Successful and defeated candidates were mingling together yesterday cracking jokes over the late fight. It was quite noticeable, however, that the glazy eye was given the average voter as he passed.

Governor Sadler arrived from Virginia City last evening. He says the vote of Storey county was canvassed yesterday and Colonel Boyle, who was defeated by six votes on the face of the returns, asked for a recount as the law provides.

Lieutenant Herman G. Dreese of the United States Navy committed suicide at Baltimore yesterday on account, it is believed, of having received orders to proceed to Manila. It is strange that he should have been so averse to going to Manila, when there has been such a desire on the part of many of the army and navy to be ordered to those islands.

Sadler has a majority of 107 over McMillan in Nye county with White River, Tybo, Duckwater, Pahump and Thorp's Mill to hear from.

Corrocted returns from North Fork and Columbia precincts give Sadler a gain of 15 over previous returns.

The Soldiers' Vote.

The question whether or not the soldier's votes can legally be counted is of considerable interest and attorneys seem to differ on the construction of the law. The Constitution contains an "Election Ordinance" which seems to have been adopted in connection with the Constitution merely for the purpose of carrying the Constitution into effect, and it is doubtful whether it is a part of the Constitution. A subsequent law was passed providing a method whereby the soldiers could vote, but this law was repealed. As there seemed to be a doubt in the matter Secretary of State Howell, a Silver Party State officer, under the advice of a Silver Party Attorney General forwarded the necessary ballots, tally sheets and instructions to Captain Linscott's troop before the troop left for Manila and it is presumed the boys will cast their ballots while at sea and the Silver Party will only ask for and do not expect more than a proper legal construction in the matter. The Gazette's insinuation that the Silver Party have no respect for the soldiers and have undoubtedly fight to have them disfranchised is about on a par with its usual slurs, having no foundation in fact and only attempts to create an unjust prejudice when there is no immediate occasion for it.

CITY COUNCIL.

Board of Council met in regular session; all members present. Minutes of previous meetings read and approved.

Councilman Noyes moved that in relation to the fence in the rear of the Byington building and on report of Fire Marshal that the Clerk notify Mr. O. S. Martin, agent of the property, to remove said fence at once. It was so ordered.

The matter of allowing Mr. Burke to remove a frame building to the rear of his brick shop, Mr. Noyes as one of the committee reported adversely and was sustained by the other members of the committee. The Clerk was ordered to notify Mr. Burke.

Mr. O'Connor appeared and asked for further information regarding the building of a stone crossing from the Postoffice to the opposite side of street. Action in the matter was postponed.

Bills amounting to $743 15 were audited and ordered paid. An order was made to commence action against J. N. Evans to force him to open certain streets heretofore ordered opened and to remove all obstructions. Adjourned.

Outlook for Another Prolonged Legal Contest.

W. T. Baggett and M. W. Fox have called a meeting of stockholders of the Hale & Norcross Mining Company for Tuesday at 1 P. M. at the company's office to get consent of action as to the distribution of about $225,000 of the money obtained on the judgment, after payment of the expenses of litigation.

According to the San Francisco Post there is no chance for a compromise between the Grayson and Fox factions and the chances for another prolonged legal contest is probable for the division of the $225,000 of the judgment left after Attorney Baggett gets his drawdown for fees.

The Blockade Raised.

KILLED AT WADSWORTH.

A Virginia Boy Run Over by a Train.

Fred Otten, a boy of thirteen who ran away from his home at Virginia City about two months ago, was killed by being run over by a train at Wadsworth Sunday night. Word was sent to his mother, and an older brother went to Wadsworth yesterday. The remains of the poor boy arrived here last night en route to Virginia. The particulars of the accident were not learned, but it is supposed that he was trying to steal a ride in an endeavor to reach home, having come from Elko, where he had been for some weeks.

The Fireman's Masquerade.

The masquerade to be given by Monumental Hose Co., No. 8, on Thanksgiving night will be the next attraction and the boys are arranging to make the occasion the event of the winter season. A San Francisco costumer has been engaged and a splendid orchestra and every attention will be paid to guests and the program will be all the dancer could wish.

The boys are deserving of a liberal patronage for they are ever ready at the first tap of the fire bell to help save property. They have kept up their organization, but receive little pay for the clothes they have ruined and at times suffer from colds and sickness contracted by exposure at a fire, not to say anything of the frequent risk they take of their lives.

Give them a rousing, roaring benefit and show them that the town appreciates their efforts. The price of tickets will be for maskers, lady and gent, $1. Lady maskers, 50 cents and spectators 50 cents. A door prize will be a feature; each spectator's ticket of admission containing a coupon for the drawing, and several fine prizes will be offered for those who participate in mask.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

In conformity with a time-honored custom, and in acknowledgement of the manifold blessings vouchsafed the people of this Commonwealth, I, Reinhold Sadler, Lieutenant and Acting Governor of the State of Nevada, do hereby designate and proclaim Thursday, November 24, A. D. 1898, a day of Thanksgiving, and recommend that the people refrain from their usual avocations and assemble in their respective places of worship, and give thanks to Almighty God for the many favors bestowed upon us. Let us not in this year of bountiful harvests forget the needy and distressed, that all may join in the General Thanksgiving to the Great Giver above.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Nevada, at the Capitol, in Carson City, the fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-third.

REINHOLD SADLER,
Lieutenant and Acting Governor.
By the Governor:
EUGENE HOWELL,
Secretary of State.

Myrtle Lodge No. 20, Knights of Pythias of Verdi will hold its Fourth Annual ball on the evening of December 9th. It will be a masquerade and the members propose to make it a grand social event. Prizes will be a feature. The best of music and an excellent program will add to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Latest dispatches tell of a big fire which occurred at Dawson City, destroying forty buildings. The fire was started by a woman throwing a lighted lamp at another of her kind during a row in a saloon. This is the second big fire she has caused in the same way. The fire will cause great suffering as there is no lumber or glass there to rebuild and the winter is far advanced.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can take it who has lame back and weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures constipation, head ache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.
